Welcome to a student/teacher conversation on the future of feminist pedagogics!

What is the role of feminism in higher education?

Is there a feminist pedagogics - and if so, how do we envision it?

What is the relationship between gender studies and neoliberal academia?

These are some of the questions that teachers and students will discuss during The Department of Gender Studies International Women's Day Event. We welcome everyone to participate in our celebration! Come by for coffee, cake and conversations.

WELCOME!
